

Françoise Mianda is a senior international civil servant with nearly 30 years of experience within the United Nations system, including roles with UNDP and the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights in Kinshasa, Geneva, and Brazzaville. She holds a Master's degree in Law from the University of Kinshasa and has extensive training in human rights and humanitarian affairs.

She founded Ki Jaillit, a community-based initiative that empowers vulnerable populations through jewelry production and other income-generating activities, and has collaborated with the Panzi Foundation on related projects. She was recently appointed Senior Advisor to the DRC Minister of Justice.